

Apostol Vassilev

Apostol Vassilev is a Principal Consultant with atsec information security corporation, based in Austin, Texas. He is a frequent international conference speaker, author of technical journal papers, holder of multiple patents and an accredited evaluator for the BSI Common Criteria scheme. Mr. Vassilev has many years of experience architecting and developing information security solutions currently used by large corporations and government agencies in the United States. His research interests include information security technologies and standards, privacy protection, and cryptography. Mr. Vassilev holds a Ph.D. in Mathematics from Texas A&M University.